The examiner now of record has determined that the instant application has more independent and distinct inventions than the two groups set forth in the previous Office action of March 28, 2008. The following restriction requirement replaces the requirement mailed on March 28, 2008.

Restriction

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group 1, claim(s) 1-77 and 119-124, drawn to an ablation apparatus having electrodes on a circuit board.

Group 2, claim(s) 78-84, drawn to an apparatus having wire electrode in a housing.

Group 3, claim(s) 85-98, drawn to a method and device for sequentially activating electrodes.

Group 4, claim(s) 99-110, drawn to a method and device for applying a calibration signal prior to delivering ablation energy.

Group 5, claim(s) 111-114, drawn to an ablation apparatus having a handle, pivot joint and a floating element.

Group 6, claim(s) 115-118, drawn to a packaging for storing an electrode.

The inventions listed as Groups 1-6 do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: each group sets forth an independent and distinct invention that is materially different from each other group. Group 1 required a circuit board and an energy applicator to make contact between driving electrodes and ablation electrode. No other group requires this type of structure. Similarly, Group 2 requires a specifically shaped wire electrode that is not recited in, or may be used with, any other group. Group 3 recites a sequential electrode system that is independent from each other group, and Group 4 requires the use of a calibration signal to determine an ablation energy level, which limitation is not part of any other group. Group 5 recites a specific handle device comprising a pivot joint and a floating element, which structure is not incorporated into any other group, and Group 6 discloses a packaging for storing an electrode that is unrelated to any other group.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.
